Objective and Features of the Fund

1. Objective of the Fund

The Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index* (hereinafter referred to as the “Benchmark Index”) is used as an underlying benchmark. The Fund aims at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index, which means NAV volatility is to correspond with that of the Benchmark Index.

* The Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index is an index whose daily percentage change is doubly inverse to (i.e., multiplied by minus 2) that of the Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225). This is calculated with the base date set as December 28, 2001. It assumes the index value on that day to be 100,000 points.

2. Features of the Fund

■ Main subject of investment

-Short-term securities, such as short-term public and corporate bonds denominated in Japanese yen, etc., are the main subject of investment. The main types of transactions are stock index futures connected with the Nikkei 225 (including futures that are traded in foreign exchanges) (hereinafter referred to as “Object Futures Transactions”).

-The Fund may invest in (a) stocks that are included or are due to be included in the Nikkei 225, (b) investment trust securities that aim at investment performance linked to the Nikkei 225 ((a) and (b) are hereinafter collectively referred to as “Object Stocks, Etc.”), and (c) investment trust securities that aim at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index (hereinafter referred to as “Benchmark Index Linked Investment Trust Securities”).

-Object Futures Transactions, and transactions of Object Stocks, Etc. and Benchmark Index Linked Investment Trust Securities are hereinafter collectively referred to as “Object Futures Transactions, Etc.”

■ Investment Policy

(i) The Fund aims at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index, by carrying out Object Futures Transactions, Etc., as well as primarily investing in short-term securities, such as short-term public and corporate bonds denominated in Japanese yen, etc., and also in making call loans, etc.

(ii) In principle, the amount of (a) the market price of owned Object Stocks Etc. subtracted from (b) the total market price of short positions in Object Futures Transactions and that of the Benchmark Index Linked Investment Trust Securities (the amount of (a) subtracted from (b) is hereinafter referred to as “Substantial Short Position Exposure Amount”) is adjusted to be around double of the total net asset value of the trust assets in the Fund. When calculating the total amount of (b) above, the market price of the Benchmark Index Linked Investment Trust Securities shall be as double of the actual market price.

(iii) When an additional issue of beneficial interests occurs, the Management Company may adjust the trust assets such that the trust assets remain in compliance with policy (i) and (ii) above.

(iv) The Management Company may carry out transactions of the Object Futures Transaction in foreign exchanges, taking transaction volume and other liquidity, into consideration. In such instances, like investing in assets denominated in foreign currencies such as margins in foreign exchanges, etc., currency risks are basically hedged.

(v) The Management Company will change the Contract Month to be executed for Object Futures Transactions, taking the transaction volume, liquidity, and other features of the Contract Month that is the object of the transaction, into consideration.

(vi) Upon accepting a request to execute a partial cancellation, the Management Company will liquidate the securities or other assets in the trust assets corresponding to the beneficial interest held by the requestor of such cancellation. However, the liquidation above shall not be applicable where the Management Company delivers cash, received for any additional issue of beneficial interests, to meet a partial cancellation request.

(vii) In addition to the cases above, the Management Company will, in essence, issue investment instructions for the Object Futures Transactions, Etc., in order to adjust the components of the trust asset:

- (a) if the Substantial Short Position Exposure Amount no longer correlates to about double of the total net asset value of the trust assets because of fluctuations and other similar variations to the Benchmark Index;
- (b) if the calculation method of the Benchmark Index is changed or announced to be changed; or
- (c) in addition to provisions (a) and (b) above, if necessary to maintain a link between NAV and the Benchmark Index, or for any other similar reason.

Management described above may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc.

■ Investment Restrictions

Investment ratio in stocks	There is no restriction on the investment ratio in stocks.
Investment ratio in assets denominated in foreign currencies	There is no restriction on the investment ratio in assets denominated in foreign currencies.
Use of derivatives	Use of derivatives is not restricted to hedging purposes.

■ Distribution Policy

-Dividends are due on the 20th of May of each year.

-As a general rule, the full amount of dividends and other income arising from the trust assets are distributed after deduction of expenses. However, the amount of dividends that are payable may in some circumstances amount to zero. Even if any profits are realized from the sale and purchase of individual securities, no dividends shall be paid.

* There is no suggestion or guarantee regarding the payment or the amount of future dividends.

Investment Risks

1. Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

The NAV of the Fund is subject to fluctuations in the prices of the securities in which the Fund invests. All profits and losses arising from fund management are borne by the investors.

Any principal invested in the Fund by investors is therefore not guaranteed. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in the NAV. The investment trust differs from a savings deposit.

Stock Price Fluctuation Risk	NAV of the Fund may be influenced by stock price fluctuations since the Fund actively utilizes stock index futures.
Bond Price Fluctuation Risk	Bond (such as public and corporate bond) prices can fluctuate due to fluctuations in market interest rates, fluctuations in the credibility of the bond issuers, etc., which may affect the NAV of the Fund since the Fund invests in these bonds.

* The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those mentioned above.

<<Primary Factors for Discrepancies between the Benchmark Index and NAV>>

The Fund aims at an investment performance for NAV volatility tightly linked to that of the Benchmark Index; however, in managing the investment assets, we cannot guarantee that movements will be identical to those of the Benchmark Index for primarily the following reasons:

(i)The Substantial Short Position Exposure Amount will not exactly be double of the total net asset value of trust assets in the Fund.

(ii)The movement of the Nikkei 225 will not necessarily correspond to that of evaluated prices of Object Futures Transactions.

(iii)There may be a disparity between (a) the contract price of Object Futures Transactions made in order to carry out additional issue or cancellations, etc., and (b) the evaluation price of the Object Futures Transaction on those dates.

(iv)The Fund bears transaction costs when carrying out additional issue, cancellations, or changes to the Contract Month to be executed for Object Futures Transactions. There may be a price spread between the prices of Object Futures Transactions taking place in different Contract Months.

(v)There is interest and other income arising from investing in short-term securities, such as public and corporate bonds, etc.

(vi)The Fund bears certain costs, such as trust fees.

* The factors for discrepancies between the Benchmark Index and NAV are not limited to those mentioned above.

When managing the Fund, we cannot guarantee that the NAV movements will be identical to those of the Benchmark Index since the goals of the above investment policy may not be achieved by management, primarily when any of the following events occur;

- When Object Futures Transactions are restricted;
- When the size of the Fund under management is small;
- When the ratio of the margin to be deposited for Object Futures Transactions becomes higher than a certain level; or
- When the Object Futures Transaction is not dealt, or all or a portion of a transaction required for the Fund is not dealt because of a large movement of the market and/or lack of liquidity, etc.

2. Additional Considerations

The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (so-called “cooling off”) are not applicable to subscriptions to the Fund.

- Management based upon the investment policy may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc., or unexpected circumstances.
- The interest/redemption payment from the issuers of the securities which are incorporated into the Fund may be delayed.
- Transactions pertaining to the Fund, such as an investment in securities and contracts related to such fund, may default because of the bankruptcy, or other similar event occurring to a counterparty.
- NAV of the Fund and the Benchmark Index may differ because of costs and other factors. It is not guaranteed that the Fund’s investment performance will track or exceed the Benchmark Index.
- The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.
- Beneficiaries cannot exchange their own beneficial interests in the Fund for the securities which correspond to their share of the beneficial interest in the trust assets of the Fund.
- The Management Company may delist the Fund and terminate the trust when unavoidable circumstances, such as if the NAV of the Fund becomes remarkably small, occur.
- Please be aware that the Fund will be delisted and the trust will be terminated if the number of units of beneficial interests is below 100,000 for 20 successive business days.
- Matters to be aware of concerning the nature of the Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index
The percentage change (i.e., the market price from a certain business day versus that of a business day occurring after) of the Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index is always calculated as doubly inverse to (i.e., multiplied by minus 2) that of the Nikkei 225 where the business days are consecutive. However, in comparing the percentage change between two business days that are non-consecutive, the percentage change of the Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index on the latter day generally is not doubly inverse to (i.e., multiplied by minus 2) that of the percentage change of the Nikkei 225 on the latter day. The discrepancy above is inevitable for purposes of calculation.

The discrepancy above will fluctuate according to the movement of the Nikkei 225 during the period between these two business days, meaning the spread may turn positive or negative. Generally, it is very likely that the spread will turn negative if the Nikkei 225 repeatedly cycles up and down, and the spread will tend to be larger if the period between these two business days is longer.

Therefore, the Fund is a financial product suited to the investment made for purposes of following relatively short-term market movement, as opposed to being suitable for long-term investment.

- Matters to be aware of regarding the discrepancy between movements of indexes and actual movements of the market price of the Fund

There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its management target because the actual NAV of the Fund is affected by costs such as trust fees, additional issue/partial cancellations, and discrepancies in the movement of Nikkei 225 and Nikkei 225 futures.

The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.

3. Risk Management System

The Management Company examines Fund performance and oversees management risks by having established a committee to take charge of these matters.

- Examination of the Fund performance
The committee reports and deliberates on the results of periodic examinations (analysis/evaluation) of the investment trust's trust asset performance results.
- Administration of management risk
The committee identifies and manages management risk and, based on its findings, provides guidance to the appropriate divisional management and any other relevant sections regarding rectification measures for appropriate administration.

4. Risk Quantitative Comparison (end of July 2016 to the end of June 2021, per month.)

<The Fund's annual return and the change of dividend re-investment net asset value >

* The dividend re-investment net asset value is calculated by deeming that the dividend before income taxes is re-invested. The dividend re-investment net asset value is set by indexing the net asset value as of the end of July 2016 as 10,000.

* The annual return displays the return in a single year at the end of each month for the five years from July 2016 to June 2021.

-Annual listing fee: Maximum of 0.00825% (0.0075% exclusive of taxes) of the total net assets at year-end.

The fees listed above and any consumption and other tax are to be borne by investors and can be paid out of the trust assets.

Amounts not paid out of the trust assets are to be borne by the Management Company.

Other expenses and fees are as follows:

- Brokerage commission on transactions in portfolio securities
- Expenses for maintaining custody of assets denominated in foreign currency
- Costs paid to auditors for Fund audits
- Taxes related to the Fund, etc.

These expenses and fees above are paid out of the trust assets when they are incurred. These expenses and fees vary according to management and other conditions, so details of rates and upper limits cannot be provided ahead of time.

■ Tax Treatment

- Tax Treatment is applied at the times listed below.
- The following chart represents tax rates on individual investors at the time of tax withholding. The tax rate may differ according to the taxation method, etc.

Time	Items	Tax
Receipt of distribution	Income tax, special reconstruction income tax and local tax	Taxed as dividend income 20.315% of income distributions
Sales, liquidations (cancellations) and redemptions	Income tax, special reconstruction income tax and local tax	Taxed as capital gains 20.315% of the profit on sales, liquidations (cancellations) and redemptions

*The foregoing descriptions are as of the end of June 2021. Therefore, the tax rates may change in the event that tax laws are revised.

*If you choose the Japanese version of the Individual Savings Account (known as “NISA”):

“NISA” is the (Nippon) Individual Savings Account, a tax exemption structure pertaining to a listed stock or a publicly offered stock investment trust etc. If you choose to use the NISA structure, income gains and capital gains from newly purchased ETFs etc., for investments of up to a specified amount each year, will be tax exempt for a specified term. In order to be eligible for NISA, certain conditions, such as the requirement that the NISA account be opened by an investor with an eligible distributing company, must be met. Investors should make sure whether or not dividends can be received tax-exempt, as this may depend on the dividend payment method. Please confirm this with the distributing company for further details.

*In the event foreign tax credit is applied by the investment to assets denominated in foreign currency, tax treatment at the time of receipt of the distribution may differ from the percentage listed above.

*The aforementioned descriptions do not apply to Japanese corporations.

*We recommend that investors consult a tax or similar specialist for details of tax treatment.

◆ Regarding the movement of the Benchmark Index

The Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index is an index whose daily percentage change from one business day to the one immediately after is represented as doubly inverse to (i.e., multiplied by minus 2) the percentage change of the Nikkei 225. Therefore, please be aware that the percentage change of the Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index generally is not doubly inverse to (i.e., multiplied by minus 2) that of the Nikkei 225 when the two days reflected in the percentage change are non-consecutive, as indicated by the following examples.

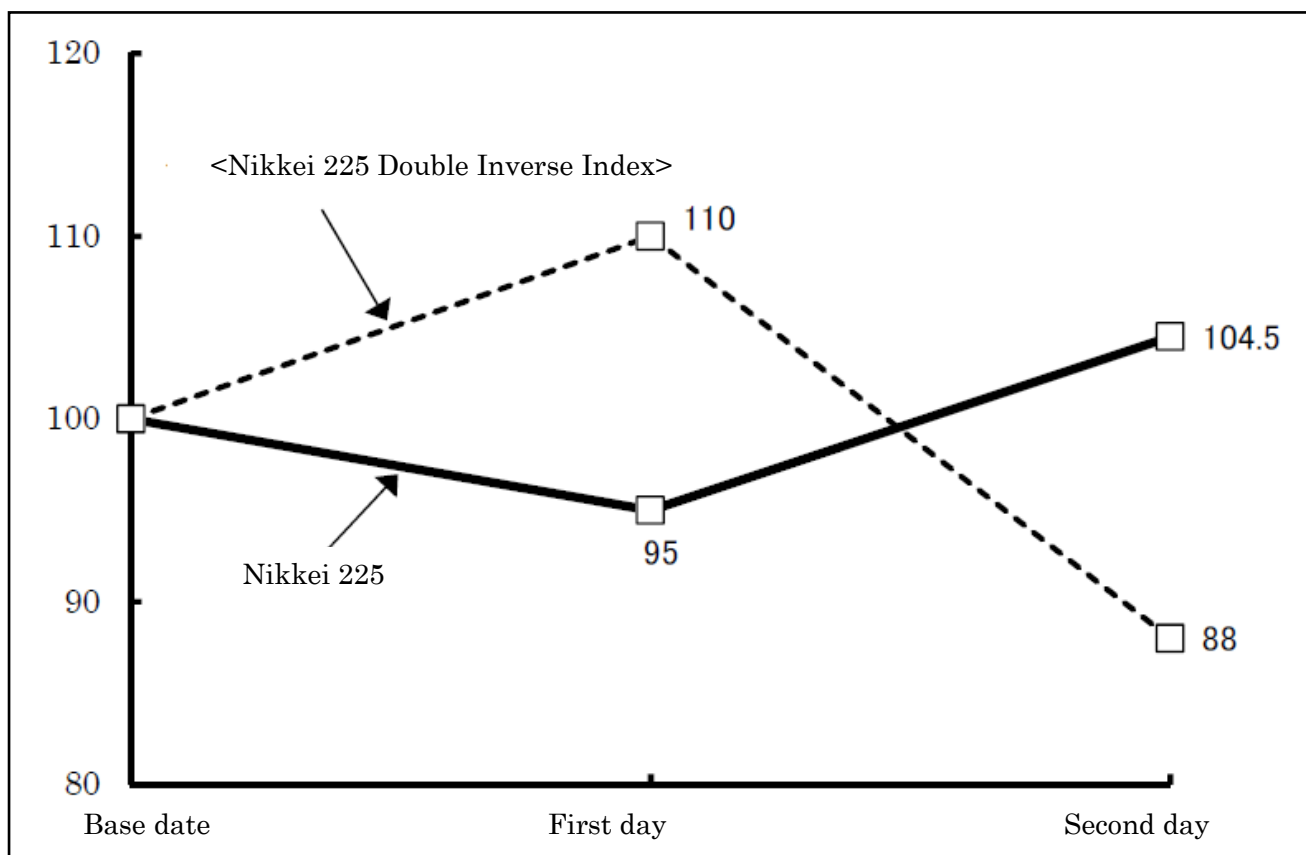

Example 1: When Nikkei 225 falls the first day and rises the second day

-Daily price fluctuation

	The first day	The second day
Nikkei 225	-5%	+10%
Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index	+10%	-20%

-Price fluctuation compared with the base date

	The first day	The second day

These illustrations above are calculated examples to explain the relationship of price fluctuations in the Nikkei 225 and the Nikkei 225 Double Inverse Index, and do not refer to actual performance.

There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its management target because the actual NAV of the Fund is affected by costs such as trust fees, additional issue/partial cancellations, and discrepancies in the movement of Nikkei 225 and Nikkei 225 futures.

The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.
